

DEMOCRATS HAVE A STATE CONFAB

M. K. REILLY OF FOND DU LAC
SOUNDS KEYNOTE OF GATH-ERING.

LOOK FOR A VICTORY NOW

Committee Appointed This Afternoon and Convention Will Convene Again This Evening.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 12.—M. K. Reilly of Fond du Lac, temporary chairman of the democratic state convention, after tracing the growth of the democratic party from 1856 to the present day, in his address before that gathering this morning, secured the tariff, saying that through its tariff legislation the republican party has enabled certain producers to eliminate competition, to form monopolies, and control markets and to fix prices in defiance of the law of supply and demand. He said that more men have been made rich in the last quarter of a century through republican legislation than ever before in a like period in the history of the world.

In discussing the special privilege danger, Mr. Reilly said: "We have reached such a state in our development as a result of special privileges that the question longer is, 'Will the government be able to control the corporations?' but will the corporations be able to own and control the government?" Committee on platform, nomination and to adjust several congressional district disputes were also named and the convention adjourned until evening when the regular business will be taken up.

No decision regarding the probable nominations for Congress from the Sixth District, in which district the greatest interest centers, has yet been reached.

Man Dropped Dead.

H. F. Sherman of Dodge was elected chairman and L. A. Lange of Fond du Lac, secretary in the Sixth district conference.

Just as Chairman Davies of the State Central committee had called the convention to order, Christopher W. Luedtke, county clerk of Green Lake county, dropped dead in his chair.

The convention will adopt a state ticket and a progressive platform, but it is not known whether nominations for senator will be made or not.

Mrs. Thos. A. Jackson died at her home in Cedar Falls, Iowa on Sunday morning and the remains will be brought to Broadhead Wednesday noon for interment, beside those of her husband, who died some two years ago.

The funeral services will be held on Wednesday afternoon at the M. E. church at one o'clock, conducted by Rev. G. N. Foster.

WILL IT STOP THEM?

SEEK TO IMPROVE UPPER MISSISSIPPI

Delegates From Wisconsin, Minnesota, Missouri, Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin, and Minnesota, the ninth annual convention of the Upper Mississippi River Improvement Association was opened here today.

The aim of the gathering is to secure the early completion of the project as adopted by Congress for a six-foot channel in the upper Mississippi River from Minneapolis to the mouth of the Missouri. The business sessions of the convention will continue over tomorrow and papers will be read covering practically every phase of the subject by men familiar with the problems the undertaking presents. Senators and representatives in Congress from the States bordering the upper Mississippi are among the scheduled speakers. Thomas Wilkinson of Burlington, president of the association, presided at today's sessions.

OLD SLOOP OF WAR TO BE DISMANTLED

The "Portsmouth," Built in 1843 and a Member of Farragut's Fleet Has Served Its Day.

New York, July 12.—Within the next few days the old sloop of war Portsmouth, one of the relics of the old navy, will be towed from Hoboken to the navy yard in Brooklyn and be laid out of commission. The Portsmouth was built in 1843 at Portsmouth, N. H., and three years later she entered the golden age and took an active part in the Mexican war. Later she proceeded to Chinese waters, where she demolished two forts. During the civil war the Portsmouth was in Farragut's fleet. For the past fifteen years she has been used as a training ship for the naval reserves of New Jersey.

REMARKABLE STORY OF "HARRY LLOYD"

Who Recently Died at Enfield, Eng., in Without Parallel Even in the Pages of Fiction.

London, July 12.—For a week all England has been discussing the strange case of "Harry Lloyd." And it is not to be wondered at, for no novelist ever invented a stranger or more romantic plot than that which was acted in real life by the mysterious person who bore the name of "Harry Lloyd," and whose death at Enfield has led to the discovery of the secret she guarded so carefully for nearly thirty years.

In the days when Charles Bradburn and his disciples were conducting their great spiritualist agitation there was to be found in their intimate circle of fellow-workers an ardent-spirited French woman named Marie LeRoy. For a considerable time she was one of the most active and devoted workers in the cause. And then suddenly she disappeared out of the lives of those who had worked with her and they knew her no more.

Now, after thirty years, it is learned that it was no sinister intrigue that led this remarkable woman to disappear from view. She seems to have cherished a deep, sisterly affection for another and younger woman. This friend of hers was in deep trouble, having loved and been loved by two men. To save her friend from the scorn of the world, Marie LeRoy adopted a unique plan. She assumed the name and dress of a man, and henceforth lived with her friend as her husband. Even after the death of her friend she continued to carry on the unusual deception in order to afford a father's protection to her friend's child. This child, now grown to womanhood and well known as an educator, was astounded when the coroner's inquest divulged the strange fact that "Harry Lloyd" was a woman and not her father as she had always believed.

NEWBOURER FINED FIFTEEN DOLLARS

For Pitchforking Henry Saum on June 22—Pleaded Guilty to Assault and Battery.

After a plea of "not guilty" had been entered and the drawing of a jury had been commenced, John Newbourn decided to amend his plea to "guilty" to the charge of assault and battery on Henry Saum, in municipal court this morning. The state had manifested a willingness to drop the case if the defendant would agree to pay the complainant's doctor bill and a fine and Newbourn was ready to accept the terms providing the fine fixed should be only nominal—$1 and costs. To this the state would not consent, on the ground that even if it were accidental, a serious offense had been committed. On his final plea of "guilty," Newbourn was assessed $15 and costs and paid the same.

NOTED PASTOR AND WIFE HOLD JUBILEE

Rev. and Mrs. Arthur P. Pierson, Presbyterian Missionary Workers, Have Been Married Fifty Years.

Northfield, Mass., July 12.—Friends of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Pierson, both of whom are famous for their work in the interest of Presbyterian missions, gathered here today to help them celebrate a unique double golden anniversary. The day marked the fiftieth wedding anniversary of the couple and also the fiftieth anniversary of Dr. Pierson's ordination as a preacher.

Dr. Pierson, whose home is in Brooklyn, was for two years pastor of Sprague's Tabernacle in London, and has occupied Presbyterian pulpits in Birmingham, Philadelphia and other cities. For more than a quarter of a century he has been one of the preachers at the Northfield conference founded by the late Dwight L. Moody.

CHIEF SAYS HE'S HAD NO BACKING

IN NUMEROUS ATTEMPTS TO ENFORCE LAW

AND CITES PARTICULARS

Address to Fire & Police Commission Last Evening Will Be Read With Interest By All Good Citizens

In a written communication which he read to the Fire & Police commission last evening, Chief Appleby pointed out some of the obstacles to law enforcement, and marshaled support for his contention that he has not been receiving the right kind of support, facts which left a deep impression with his hearers. The statement was made after Mayor Corbin, in a recital of the facts connected with the Academy street episode had, in the fairest possible manner, made it plain that the head of the police department had done all that was required of him in connection with that affair. It may be remarked in passing that City Attorney Maxfield attempted to start an inquisition but Mr. Hyerly tipped the cross questioning in the hat with a terse announcement that, not being on trial or answerable to that official, he did not propose at that time to enter into any discussion with him whatsoever. The commission has authorized the publication of Chief Appleby's statement and the text of it is as follows:

TO THE FIRE AND POLICE COMMISSIONERS:

Gentlemen: By reading this article I hope to convince you of the fact that I am, and have been, handicapped in the performance of my duty as I have not had any backing, and it is an uphill fight for the head of the department, and especially the police department, to fight the so-called "good people" as well as the thugs, robbers and drunkards.

In regard to arresting saloon keepers I wish to say that I arrested Mrs. Walcott at the Union House, for selling liquors on Sunday. She pleaded guilty and paid a fine, and then the City Attorney started to take away her license. She hired an attorney and had trial after trial. The result was she was fined $100 and the city still had a suit on their hands. I arrested Gokey for selling Sundays and brought him into court. The City Attorney made an investigation in the case and ordered Gokey discharged. Then I arrested Pat McKelgo for selling Sunday. I furnished the evidence and at a jury trial McKelgo was found guilty. McKelgo's attorney appealed to the circuit court and just before the case was to be called, I asked the City Attorney if I had not better subpoena the witnesses as I wanted to be ready for the trial. "Why," he says, "I dismissed that case a week ago." I said, "Hear, you didn't say anything to me; we had a good case. You can't expect me to keep arresting these saloon keepers and have you dismiss them." He said, "I don't give a damn, you do as you please about it." Then I arrested Kider for selling liquors on Sunday. He lost that case by the wrong complaint being made. So it has ever been.

Now the only legal help I have is the City Attorney. I cannot make an arrest on a city warrant without first getting a written complaint from the City Attorney.

Sometime ago I heard that some people thought that the slot machines the City Attorney and told him what were in violation of the law. I went to the city attorney and told him what I had heard. He said he didn't think that we could convict them as they were paying in checks, but I had better go to the Mayor. I went to the Mayor and told him that Maxfield had sent me to him. We talked about the slot machines and the Mayor said he didn't care to take the matter up just at that time.

I noticed that some of the saloons and other places of business were using red paint on the sidewalk advertising their business. I asked the City Attorney if we could not arrest them for it and he told me to go and tell them to stop or they would be arrested. I did so, and they stopped then, but they are doing it again as Harry's advice wasn't good, as we find we have no ordinance prohibiting it, so you see I was made a runny of it.

In conclusion I wish to say that I went to the Council, to your Honorable Body, to the Mayor, the City Attorney, and forty or fifty representative citizens, and asked to have a screen ordinance passed to help our department, so that when eleven o'clock came, the time to close, we could see that they were closing, and when Sunday came we could see through their places of business, but so far we have been unsuccessful in obtaining the ordinance, and coupled with the fact that about three to one Janesville citizens voted for the saloons this spring it must be they are satisfied with the present conditions, and at that, I don't think we have a very bad city, considering that we have upwards of fifty saloons and three or four breweries.

I have been an officer for sixteen years, over ten of which I have been city marshal, and never in that time was I more faithful or tried harder to do right and run things in an honorable way than I have the last two years, and if I have failed to make good in the eyes of the people, then I must be thoroughly incompetent for the office of Chief of Police.

GEO. M. APPLEBY,
Chief of Police.

AN EDGERTON GIRL GOES TO MADISON

Miss Nellie Bentley Accepts Position in the Conservatory of Music at Capital City.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Edgerton, July 12.—Miss Nellie Bentley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bentley of this city, who graduated with much honor from the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago this summer, has accepted a position to teach during the coming year at the Madison Conservatory. Miss Bentley was one of the graduates of the Chicago school that played at the annual concert at Orchestra hall before a large audience of the most discriminating quality. The Musical Leader in speaking of Miss Bentley said: "Miss Nellie Bentley was heard in the Wlenawski Conservatory. She is more than ordinarily talented and as her natural gifts have been cultivated under the work of a master she gave the work brilliantly, with certainty and polish absolutely astonishing in such a young player." Miss Bentley was offered several positions in Dakota, W. Virginia, and Illinois school of music but preferred to take the Madison offer and will take post graduate work in Chicago.

KICKERS' COLUMN

Editor Gazette: In a recent issue of the Gazette, attention was called to sanitary conditions as applied to streets and alleys and the point was well taken as to certain of them. In this connection, it might be well for the proper authorities to look into actual conditions in the alley adjacent to a well known east side block where it is almost a daily occurrence for certain cellular collar physicians to open their windows and throw out such things as bandages and cotton, which they have used in their practice, blood-stained and unsanitary; bottles of vile-smelling liquids; in fact all such refuse as they wish to dispose of. The only evidence of cleanliness ever noticed in connection with the offices in question is the fact that they do their own laundry work and it is no uncommon sight to see a line of socks, handkerchiefs, etc., drying on a string in the operating rooms.

LOVE MEASURED BY MACHINE

It Will Be Patented by Man Who Declares That It Records Psychological Attractiveness.

San Francisco.—A mechanical arrangement which he terms a "love machine," and which he declares will measure the strength of human affection between lovers, friends or relatives—which will correctly tabulate the amount of resistant will power of any individual, and which will also tell to an infinitesimal fraction the amount of psychological attractiveness exerted over a person by another—has been invented by Charles Trudow, a mechanic, who lives on Jones avenue, Elmhurst, and has applied for letters patent upon his contrivance and is seeking capital with which to start a "love machine" factory.

The machine is termed a "physiograph" by Trudow. Its powers are such that the human emotion termed love is drawn into it when two persons grip a pair of handles, not unlike those of an ordinary electric battery. A dial which connects a contrivance of springs and wires registers the amount of affection the two persons who grip the handles have for each other. If there is no love between them the dial hand remains motionless. According to tests by Trudow its only fault is that it cannot tell the full amount of love between some extra affectionate couples. The machine will not measure the affections of two men—the dial hand remaining motionless, as is the case when there is no love between men and women.

His Natural Way.

"In spite of all her resistance, that young soldier caught his sweetheart and ardently embraced her." "Well, it is quite natural for a soldier to gain his conquest by force of arms."

TAFT URGES WILLIAM LOEB

PRESIDENT WANTS COLLECTOR TO ENTER RACE FOR NEW YORK GOVERNOR.

DECLARES HE IS QUALIFIED

Gothamite is Averse to Taking Up Task, but Asserts if Demand is Made He Will Accept the Duty.

Beverly, Mass., July 12.—Perhaps William Loeb, Jr., collector of the port of New York, did not come to Beverly to get the endorsement of President Taft on his embryonic gubernatorial boom, but he got it just the same. The president frankly urged him to accept the Republican nomination for governor of New York.

Mr. Loeb is averse to taking up the task and would prefer to complete the work that he has undertaken as collector of the port, but before he left Burgess Point he assured the president that if the demand was made he would accept the duty.

Mr. Loeb left Boston for New York, where it is understood he is to meet Governor Hughes for a conference in advance of the latter's talk at Oyster Bay with Colonel Roosevelt. These conferences will decide definitely whether Loeb is to be pressed into service. Indications so far as the president is concerned are that Loeb will run.

Has the Qualifications.

It can be said that the president is heartily in favor of the Loeb candidacy. He regards Loeb as possessing all the requisites of a good governor, whose record since he became collector would recommend him favorably to the voters of New York. The president, of course, desires it to be understood that he is taking no part in New York politics, save in a sympathetic way; but the Loeb candidacy will have the full moral support of the Taft administration, and if Roosevelt and Hughes agree upon it the collector will enter the fight with all the powerful backing of the Taft-Hughes-Roosevelt coalition and the campaign will begin at once.

Loeb and Norton Confer.

It was with reference to the gubernatorial situation and the state of the party in New York that the president and Mr. Loeb did most of their talking. The rest of his time Mr. Loeb spent with Secretary Norton, going over with him certain phases of the general political situation which will be taken up by Mr. Norton with the president later.

OLD ALMANAC BRINGS $385

Document Was Printed in 1687 on First American Press—Belonged to Justice Sewall.

Boston.—The sale at an auction-room of one of the finest private libraries in the United States, that of the late Amor L. Hollingsworth of Milton, containing some of the very rarest of books ever printed and some of the choicest and most artistic bindings by the foremost binders of France, England and the United States has begun.

There are some very rare Americana in the library, and the few numbers of this class which were offered aroused strong bidding. A copy of Brankenburg's Almanac, which the average person wouldn't give ten cents for, was quickly run up from $100 to $385, the highest price ever paid for a copy of this almanac, which was printed at the Day-Press, in Cambridge, the first press established in the colonies, by Samuel Green in 1687.

It belonged to Chief Justice Samuel Sewall of the Massachusetts Bay colony and contains an autograph note of Judge Sewall's concerning the incognito visit of Lord Culpepper, his majesty's lieutenant and governor general of Virginia, to Boston, August 24, 1650.

PRIZE COW TAKEN ON TOUR

Animal Will Be Exhibited and Lectured About to Enlighten Farmers on Breeding.

New York.—Zelma, the prize cow owned by the state of New York, will be one of the star performers on the "farming special" to be run by a certain railroad. She belongs to the state department of animal industry, and has one of the best milk producing records ever made. She is to be displayed along the route as an example of what can be accomplished by up-to-date breeding methods.

The train is to start from Ithaca and go to Auburn. Lectures and demonstrations are to be given at towns on the way—Grosville, Porton, Groton, Locke, Moravia and Ensenore.

The train will be made up of two "laboratory" cars, a baggage car and a passenger coach. Besides the prize cow there will be chickens, spraying machines and other things which will help to illustrate the remarks of the experts.

Bible in Native Dialect.

A missionary deaconess in Liberia has edited in native dialect a book containing the ten commandments, the apostles' creed, the doxology and a number of the best-known hymns. The book is not only the first published in the dialect, but the first successful attempt to make it a written language.

Improvement on Opium.

In some parts of China the natives have taken to raising grapes and making several kinds of wine.

GREAT FINANCIERS COMBINE TO GET UNTOLD RICHES OF ALASKA.

Geo. W. Perkins of J. P. Morgan & Co.

New York, N. Y.—Wall street has only recently discovered the "vast wealth of Alaska. The most powerful interests have now combined for the exploitation of this wonderful country which is so large that twenty states now in the union could be placed within its borders. Mr. Jacob Schiff is now on his way there. He is accompanied by his family and is making the trip by slow stages. One of the chief objects of his visit is to inspect at close range the progress being made in the construction of the Copper River and Northwestern railroad. The line extends from tidewater at Gardena through the Copper River valley to Copperfield, near the Chitina river and the Behring Lake coal fields. Nearly two hundred miles already have been completed at a cost of about $10,000,000.

Mr. Perkins spent several weeks there last summer. Soon after his return the railroad was bonded for $50,000,000 through the Morgan bank. After Mr. Schiff returns other and even bigger schemes of development and exploitation may be announced.

Alaska is an undeveloped empire of enormous natural resources. Its mineral deposits alone contain hidden wealth of almost incalculable value. Only the gold has yet been touched and even that development has just begun. All along the line of the railroad there are vast deposits of copper and near the terminus some of the richest coal fields in the world have been located.

Her Temperament.

An Atchison girl was not looking well and her mother said to her: "It is your temperament which keeps you feeling badly." The girl walked around in a happy dream; she felt she was different from other people; she had "temperament." Her mother came to her in a day or two with an ugly yellowish brown mixture and said: "Take this sulphur and molasses; you have a bilious temperament." The girl collapsed.—Atchison Globe.

A WILD RIDE WITH MANIAC

MADMAN DIRECTS AUTOMOBILE 12 MILES HOLDING PISTOL OVER DRIVER.

FORCES CAR AT GREAT SPEED

Stranger Deeds Ride of Cattle Buyer, Then Orders Machine Sent to Terrible Pace—Captives Escapes Captors by Deception.

Elgin, Ill., July 12.—With a maniac's revolver muzzle at the back of his head, Fred Ackemann, drove a wild race of 12 miles between Elgin and Hampshire.

Ackemann, who is a cattle buyer, was leaving this city for Hampshire when a man stepped in front of his automobile and asked for a ride to Pin Grove, eight miles from Elgin. Ackemann invited the man to get in the car and started away.

Covered With Revolver. As soon as they cleared Elgin the autist felt a cold object pressed against the back of his head and looking around he saw his passenger covering him with a revolver.

"Don't stir," said the fellow, "but drive me to Pin Grove and go as fast as you can or I'll blow your brains out."

Ackemann offered the man his wallet containing $300, but the fellow in a quiet voice said, "It is not money I want, it is speed, and the faster you go the better it will be for you. Speed, speed!" he yelled. "Turn up the ground or I'll kill you."

Ackemann saw his passenger was demented. His fingers were twitching so about the revolver the autist feared it would be discharged unintentionally, even though he did his best to please the maniac.

Ackemann Benumbed With Terror. As the telephone poles began to fly past faster and faster, the maniac became more and more excited, and when the car was making over a mile a minute he was not satisfied, but at every mile of the engine he looked at the driver as if he suspected him.

Ackemann was benumbed with terror, his muscles became rigid and to that alone he lays his ability to keep the car on the road during the terrible race for the gratification of a maniac's whim.

Soon the low voice in Ackemann's ear asked, "How's the gasoline?" "I'm afraid," Ackemann replied, "that it is getting low. We will stop and get some more."

Ackemann then pretended to know nothing of this section, and when Hampshire was reached steered directly into town. The captor told him not to get out of the car, but to order the gasoline from the car, and above all not to appear nervous.

Put Gun Away. He thereupon put up the gun and Ackemann, being at home, steered up to the Schneider restaurant. He jumped out of the machine and ran into the building, shouting meanwhile, "Get that man in the car. He has a gun."

Officer Peter Schnedder and four other men immediately gave chase to the fellow, who jumped from the car and disappeared between some store buildings. He threw away his gun and hid in some weeds, where he was soon captured.

In the jail he said he was Roy Andrews of Decatur, a paroled reform school inmate. He is tall and slender, fairly well dressed and appears to be slightly demented.

THREE SLAIN IN N. Y. C. WRECK. Passengers Escape Injury When Train Jumps Track Near Hudson.

New York, July 12.—Three trainmen were killed and a train load of passengers badly shaken up when north-bound train 63 on the New York Central, known as the Northern and Western Express, was wrecked near Newton Hook, nine miles north of Hudson.

Engine and baggage car jumped the track and toppled over. The six other cars of the train, all Pullmans, left the rails, but remained upright and no one in them was seriously hurt. The railroad officials report that all the passengers were able to continue their journey.

Engineer Tyndall was caught under his engine and was fatally crushed, dying shortly afterward. The other trainmen were instantly killed.

CEMENT CASHIER $11,000 SHY.
Arthur C. Hawkins Arrested at Chicago Accused of Embezzlement.

Chicago, July 12.—Embezzlement of $11,000, possibly more, from the Wisconsin Lime and Cement company was the accusation on which Arthur C. Hawkins, cashier of the corporation, was arrested last night, after returning from Seattle, Wash., in company with a detective.

It was stated by President Joseph Hock of the concern that Hawkins admitted he had taken between $8,000 and $9,000 within the last sixty days. An examination of the books was not completed and it was stated by the officers of the company that a thorough checking up might disclose a loss greater than $11,000. This, however, will fall upon the surety company with which Hawkins was bonded.

KNOX, JR., AND BRIDE FORGIVEN. Secretary of State Takes Son and Wife Under Parental Roof.

Providence, R. I., July 12.—Phillander C. Knox, Jr., and his eighteen-year-old bride, a former department store girl, have gone to live in his father's country home near Philadelphia. The parental forgiveness which was withheld following his elopement and marriage to Miss May Bowler finally has been granted, owing to the intervention of his mother and brothers.

Young Knox has resigned his position as selling agent for an automobile company.

NEW YORK WELCOMES JOHNSON. Ten Thousand Persons, Mostly Negroes, Greet Champion on Arrival.

New York, July 12.—Jack Johnson came to town and was greeted at the Grand Central depot by 10,000 persons, mostly negroes.

The fact that the train was nearly five hours late because of a wreck near Albany did not dull the edge of Johnson's greeting. The police, fearing trouble, refused a permit for a parade, but there were a score or more of automobiles on hand to escort Johnson to the hotel of a friend, where a reception was held.

CAPPS QUILTS AS CONSTRUCTOR. Chief of Navy Bureau Disagrees With Secretary Mayor.

Washington, July 12.—Washington Leo Capps has resigned as chief of the bureau of construction of the navy department, to take effect on October 1, next, when he will have completed thirty years' service and will be eligible for retirement with the rank of rear admiral.

The chief constructor's resignation is due to the fact that he is out of sympathy with the reorganization scheme of Secretary of the Navy Meyer. His resignation was requested by the secretary.

Wisconsin Dentists in Ashland. Ashland, Wis., July 12.—Many a citizen of the Badger state is likely to suffer with toothache this week without relief, for most of the dentists are here in Ashland attending the fourth annual meeting of the Wisconsin Dental society. The sessions opened today and will continue three days. Dr. Harvey N. Jackson, the president, is presiding. Most of Thursday will be devoted to a boat trip to the Apostle Islands and a fish dinner on Sand Island.

GUNBOAT RAMMED BUT NO ONE HURT

FLAGSHIP CASTINE IS SAVED FROM SINKING BY BEING BEACHED.

VESSEL IS BADLY DAMAGED

Is Struck by Submarine Bonta During Mimic Attack in War Game—Dynamo and Boiler Rooms Flooded—No One Injured.

Provincetown, Mass., July 12.—During the maneuvers in the war game the submarine Bonta rammed the gunboat Castine, flagship of the submarine flotilla, and to prevent her sinking she was run ashore and beached. No one on board was hurt.

Two of the plates of the Castine were loosened. Her dynamo and boiler compartments between frames No. 19 and No. 51 are flooded, but the bulkheads are said to be holding firm.

Collide in Mimic Attack. The accident happened during a mimic attack of the Castine by the submarine, the Bonta apparently misjudging the distance and striking the gunboat with considerable force. The men on both boats felt the impact and some were momentarily stunned, but none was injured. The Bonta escaped with the slight denting of a portion of her armor and the loss of a small section of her railing.

As soon as it was seen how badly the Castine was damaged it was decided to beach her near North Truro. She will be thoroughly examined and preparations made for repairing the damage.

Officers Are Mum. Although the officers of the ships in collision will not discuss the accident it has been learned that the Castine is in such a critical condition that the sailors had authorized their efforts and were ready to leave at a moment's notice when she touched the beach.

At the time of the accident not a submarine was in sight and it was supposed that they were all far out in the bay. The others did not return until two or three hours after the Bonta had struck the Castine.

The Castine was built in Bath, Me., and was launched in 1893. She is a twin screw, schooner rigged, steel vessel of 1,177 tons displacement.

FRATERNAL QUIZ IS EXTENDED. Sangamon and Rock Island Grand Jurors to Hear Charges.

State's Attorney Magill of Rock Island was in Springfield in conference with State's Attorney Burke. Mr. Magill stated a number of indictments soon would be returned at Rock Island. The prosecutors agreed to work together and announced sensational revelations would be made within a few weeks.

State's Attorney Magill left with Mr. Burke a mass of evidence against alleged offenders. This includes affidavits and statements of persons formerly connected with the companies and policy-holders.

SKIRTS BURNED FOR SIGNALS. Four People Adrift on Lake Rescued Through Burning Garments.

Hammond, Ind., July 12.—Practically waving their blazing skirts, lighted with their last remaining match, two women, one of them a bride on her honeymoon, saved their husbands and themselves on Lake Michigan.

Adrift in a sinking sailboat, in a dense fog and without oars, the four were nearly dead from fright and exhaustion when their signals were seen by the South Chicago life saving crew. The crew arrived just in time to save the pleasure seekers from their leaking craft.

The occupants of the boat were Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Staff, newlyweds, of Helena, Mont., and Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Evers of Hammond. Staff is exalted ruler of the Elks' lodge of Helena and he and his bride are on their way to attend the national convention in Detroit.

WINNIPEG IS ELECTION MAD. Liberals Cut Government Majority to a Narrow Margin.

Winnipeg, Man., July 12.—Election night in Winnipeg found a city gone mad. After ten years of fighting the Liberals of Manitoba have reduced the government majority to such attenuated figures that another election probably will be necessary within a year.

The Roblin-Rogers administration last session had control of two-thirds of the legislature. With incomplete returns they have a bare majority of eight seats. Of the three still to be heard from, two will go Liberal. They are at points far beyond telegraph or telephone.

Riots at Mines, Troops Ready. Halifax, N. S., July 12.—Two hundred soldiers from the Royal Canadian garrison are in readiness to proceed to Springfield, where rioting and disorder have developed from an extended strike of coal miners.

Mahogany and Cedar in Ashanti.

It is estimated that the gold coast and Ashanti could supply 60,843 logs of mahogany and cedar a year if the internal communication were better. With mechanical haulage, such as traction engines and light railways, the output could be increased to some 250,000 logs per annum without depleting the natural reserves.

THE PERSONAL PLATFORM.

It seems to be the essential part of a candidate's campaign, just at the present writing, to make a personal platform. Such a platform is supposed to be a work of art and one of the essentials of the modern primary political method. It is refreshing to note that Levi Baneroff, in his announcement as a candidate for the attorney generalship, ignores this personal platform idea. He does not touch upon the question of county option, fails to recognize the importance of the quills and quillbills of the average voter-catcher, and goes along with a straightforward statement that he is a candidate. The Milwaukee Free Press comments upon this announcement of Baneroff in the following language:

"One need not be a follower of Speaker Baneroff to appreciate the refreshing change which his announcement of his candidacy offers, when compared with the proclamations of other candidates already in the field.

"Mr. Baneroff evidently goes on the assumption that the public pretty well knows what a man stands for who has been for some time identified with public life and that the 'platform' with which most candidates adorn their announcements are essentially an insult to popular intelligence.

"More than that, he deprecates the practice of individual platform building by candidates in the primaries, both because it is destructive of common party purpose and because it is provocative of hypocrisy and time-serving.

"Usually, such a platform has nothing back of it," says Speaker Baneroff, "but a desire to catch votes and consequently consists of a declaration of platitudes and not of principles."

"What a force these individual platforms are becomes evident when the primary nominees 'get together' in their platform convention. Here are men elected on promises often diametrically opposite, yet they are expected to frame a platform for the party on which all can run.

"Of course, the thing is as absurd as it is impossible. The platform simply must plumb with that of the national organization and part party purposes in the state, no matter what the standpoint of individuals may be, or the party method in politics may be as well come to be.

"The tendency of late years to discredit party machinery because certain entrenched leaders have been found wanting is palpably misdirected.

ed, and the personal, individualistic politics to which it has given impetus are fruitful of far greater evils than even the ancient system.

"That is why all candid and disinterested students of our problems of self-government disapprove of a primary system such as we have in Wisconsin, because it is hostile to responsible and efficient organization, disruptive of party lines and conducive to personal, political backbiting."

INSURGENCY'S LOGIC.

Former Governor Howard of Ft. Atkinson is a man whose republicanism has never been doubted. In a recent issue of the Jefferson County Union, of which he is editor, he has the following to say about insurgency that is interesting reading.

"One false step calls for another; one lie compels another lie to build up and support the first. This has been the experience of mankind in all ages. Republicans have been adding themselves a lot of questions since congress adjourned. The splendid results in true reform laws which under the pressure of President Taft were placed on the statute book, leave the radical insurgents hung up in the air so to speak.

"They started out on a policy of destructive opposition to everything that Taft stood for. 'Anything to beat Taft,' has been their inspiring cry. 'And so they have waged a Kilkenny fight. There was nothing else for them to do. The irresistible logic of a false purpose, of more faction opposition, has driven them to it. And now that they are back home, facing their republican constituents who sent them to Washington to fight republican battles, what will they say?

"To be consistent they must still fight the president. They have started in the work of tearing down the administration and they must keep it up. No matter how fair and square has been the purpose of all the laws Taft has brought about, they, La Follette et al, are 'agin the government.' They have started in with the purpose of breaking up the republican party and they can't stop now. La Follette voted against the postal savings bank law. No matter what the people have called for if Taft has recommended it, down with it. The republican platform on which La Follette was elected has promised it. That's nothing. Now, what will they say? Oh! the same old thing. 'There is nothing else they can say. Their senseless opposition, with its fatal logic drives them on.

"They must keep up the fight to down Taft if they are going to stay in office. It is a duplicate of the old fight of 1861 against Lincoln, of 1872 against Grant. The republican masses, the plain people, are sick and tired of having their ears rubbed for a constant fight that has no sense or reason in it except to keep a lot of radicals in office.

"Congressman Lenroot has announced the program. It is to fight Taft. 'We must do it because we have done it,' they say.

"To this base we at last, has insurgency come. Do the republicans of Wisconsin want it? A few hot heads do. Shall we men of sense and reason follow? Not stand by the president and the splendid results of his administration. True republicans are not ready yet to tear down the republican party and all it has stood for and still stands for."

This question of assembly representation in Rock county should not worry the voters very much when such men as Whitford, of Edgerton, Fisher of Janesville, and Gault of Beloit are candidates. It would be hard to beat such a trio from any county in the state.

Some of the Illinois legislators who admit accepting bribes have decided not to run for office again while others are going to brazen it out and make the race with certain defeat as a result.

So Loeb is to make the run for governor of New York and Hughes talked to Roosevelt, and this ends all the great important interviews so much was made of.

It would look as though the men who bought the right to take and exhibit the pictures of the Jefferson-Johnson fight had bought a "pig and a bottle."

One of the things that can be safely broken without anybody being hurt is the present hot wave. No one would mourn if it went to the wall with a sickening thud.

Governor Harmon of Ohio would prefer that all lynchings in the future were held in some other state if it were possible to arrange matters.

As a free lance with no political party William Jennings Bryan can afford to have a new idea for vote getting each season.

Japan will be much too polite to declare war during President Taft's ten days' actual vacation in the woods.

And Nicholson and many others are writing stuff that hits the spot; O, surely Indiana needs a most unique and gifted lot! And I've received a little volume, concerning Indiana's crops; it gives the yield of wheat, potatoes, and corn and wheat and pigs and eggs, and cabbage and green tomatoes, and sauer kraut packed in wooden kegs. WARNING IS SOUNDED IN GARFIELD'S SPEECH

He Declares Progressive Movement is Fight for Preservation of Self Government.

Cleveland, O., July 12.—In a speech at the Republican banquet at Hotel Euclid, attended by 500 progressives and many regular Republicans, James H. Garfield, former secretary of the interior, sounded the keynote of the progressive movement and fired the first gun in his gubernatorial race.

"The progressive movement is a fight for the preservation of self-government and political liberty," Mr. Garfield said. "It is said by some that the progressive movement means the destruction of the Republican party. The very opposite is true. The Republican party was born of progressive spirit that impelled men to give their lives that human liberty might be restored and disunion prevented. It's great victories have been won because it was progressive. It's great policies have had to do with the onward movement in all fields of political and human activities. Its failures and mistakes have been counted only when the progressive spirit has been forgotten, when the interests of the many have been subservient to the profits of the few. Instead of destroying the Republican party, the progressive movement today means renewed life, renewed vigor and greater opportunities for promoting the public welfare."

Mr. Garfield then set forth the progressive platform, which will be based upon the Republican state convention. It declares for control of all corporations, publicity in campaign expenses, a workmen's compensation act, strengthening of child-labor laws, reform of the judiciary, state control of water power and abolition of direct taxation for state expenses.

HELEN KELLY GOULD WEDDED.

Becomes Bride of Ralph H. Thomas as Detectives Watch Children.

New York, July 12.—Mrs. Helen Kelly Gould and Ralph Hill Thomas, nephew of Washington Thomas, president of the American Sugar Refining company, were married quietly in Mrs. Gould's apartments on Park avenue, by Rev. Dr. Webster of the Brick Presbyterian church.

The wedding party was confined to the immediate friends of the couple.

Mrs. Ralph Thomas.

According to the present plans Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will sail for Europe.

Helen and Dorothy Gould, the children of Frank Jay Gould, and Helen Kelly Gould, were taken away from their nurse and Addison Mizner appointed their special guardian for the day by the mother, soon after the wedding.

They were taken to Miss Helen Gould's home at Tarrytown by private detectives in the employ of Miles Gould.

Hat as Badge of Slavery. With the ancient Greeks the hat was simply an appendage of the traveler. The free citizen preferred to go bareheaded and only put on his broad-brimmed potamus for protection against the sun when on a long journey. The uncovered head was part of his dignity, for the slaves and work men were always a kind of pointer skull cap.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

MRS. GRUNDY.

Half the world is ever asking, "What will Mrs. Grundy say?"

The postiferous spirit dominates human affairs from the cradle to the grave.

The baby, for instance, must be dressed for show purposes in a long gown that sweeps to the floor, fuffed, tucked and flounced in approved style—like the baby next door. Else what will Mrs. Grundy say?

And sister's wedding trousseau? Why, let mother wear the threadbare old silk and father do his best by dry cleaning to take the shine off his shabby suit—sister's wedding must be as classy as that of May Jones' around the corner.

Mrs. Grundy! Honest, now, my good woman, you do not care to be seen on the street with that old cloak or at church with your last season's bonnet. Why?

And as for a pinch on Johnny's trousers or Susie's jacket when you send them to school—Mrs. Grundy! Wherever some man will say: "That is the woman of it. Who cares what the neighbors say?"

So? You are a business man. Did you sign that petition because it was right, or subscribe to that charity because you wanted to give your money away? If not, why not?

You are a farmer. Did you buy that newfangled disk riding plow because you needed it, or to be an up to date farmer like Bill Smith up the road?

See here— You think your party is wrong and that one of the nominees got his nomination unfairly. Did you come out and bolt your party or go on record against the nominee?

Oh, that Mrs. Grundy! She dictates what you and your family shall wear on their backs and head and feet; she wants everybody to think like everybody else and do like everybody else. She wants to herd people in crowds and dominate them. And she succeeds.

Do you want to do your own thinking? Then don't think out loud lest Mrs. Grundy hear you and call you queer or a crank. Do you want to cut out some of the things your neighbors do in order to save a little money for bills or old age? Don't! Mrs. Grundy will hold up her hands in horror.

Hang Mrs. Grundy! Well, it is a thousand pities we cannot follow our Salem ancestors of the eighteenth century, who did hang the witches!

DENTAL

I believe I got the worst cases of extracting in all this end of the State. All the Janesville Dentists seem to dump their bad cases of extracting on to me.

No Dentist likes to tackle these difficult cases of broken-down, rotten, and decayed roots.

So (it's told me by eye witnesses) they disinterestedly remark that they hear that Dr. Richards extracts teeth.

So let it be. I do extract thousands of teeth.

Not ruthlessly, but by force of method and consistency.

And the best of all, I do it Painlessly.

The truth of which is testified to by my patients.

WOMEN ARE HURT WHEN PASSENGER TRAIN HITS RIG

MRS. J. V. HUGUNIN AND MRS. F. H. WETMORE THROWN TWENTY FEET.

HAD A MIRACULOUS ESCAPE

Accident Happened This Morning at 11 O'clock Near North-Western Yard—Horse Killed and Buggy Demolished.

Struck by a fast passenger train, their horse killed and the buggy in which they were riding entirely demolished, Mrs. J. V. Hugunin, aged seventy-eight, who resides three miles south of this city, and her daughter, Mrs. Frank H. Wetmore of Emerald Grove, narrowly escaped death this morning shortly before eleven o'clock at the railroad crossing just north of the North-Western round-house in South Janesville.

Both are in the hospital at present. Mrs. Hugunin suffering from a severe scalp wound and an injured spine while her daughter, who was less seriously hurt, sustained a bad cut on the head and severe bruises. Under the conditions it is considered almost a miracle that they escaped with their lives.

The accident occurred while the two women were driving to town. Upon reaching the crossing, they were forced to wait until an engine, which was switching some cars, left the way clear. Their buggy was standing a short distance to the west of the main passenger track but the occupants did not notice a passenger train coming from the south.

The switch-engine had just pulled clear of the crossing when their horse gave a frightened leap and plunged directly in front of the oncoming passenger.

The animal was instantly killed, the buggy reduced to kindling wood with Mrs. Hugunin and her daughter were thrown about twenty feet from the crossing, fortunately away from the rails.

The train, which is known as No. 521, due in this city from Chicago at eleven o'clock, was in charge of Engineer Guy E. Cole of this city and Conductor Leach. It was brought to a stop as soon as possible, the injured women placed in the baggage car and carried to town where they were placed in the hospital.

Dr. E. F. Woods, who was called, found that while the external wounds were not dangerous, both women were suffering from a bad shaking up and in the case of Mrs. Hugunin, the shock may result seriously, because of her extreme age.

Up to a late hour this afternoon, there were no signs of internal injuries and it is hoped that both of the injured women will recover.

CHARGES AGAINST CHIEF DISMISSED

City Attorney Maxfield's Complaint Fell Flat—Held to Be Without Warrant by Police Board.

The only tribunal which has any jurisdiction in the matter has not sustained the charges of neglect of duty filed against Chief of Police George M. Appleby by City Attorney H. L. Maxfield. At a meeting held last evening the fire and police commission decided that inasmuch as the violation of law of which the city attorney complained in his communication had not been reported to the head of the police department after Mr. Maxfield and the "spotter" had secured the alleged evidence, Chief Appleby could hardly be held in any way accountable. So far as the charges were concerned with Mayor Whitely F. Carlo, the board promptly recognized the fact that it had no authority to act and so that portion of the complaint was completely disregarded though the honor, as well as the chief of police and the city attorney were present in person and the city's head executive cheerfully related all he knew about the matter and invited a full investigation.

As everybody remembers, the complaint was founded on the supposed fact that a certain report at 21 North Academy street had been operated after the inmates had been brought into court, fined, and instructed to leave town. Except by threats of prison sentences, of course, nobody can be hounded from the city and it has been shown by repeated experience that it takes rather conclusive proof to convict people of this sort unless they are willing to plead guilty.

So far as the fire and police commission is concerned, the charges against Chief Appleby fell flat. They flattened out in public opinion some time ago.

PROSPECTIVE GROOM, NOT TO BE FOUND

Mrs. Etta Banker of Janesville Searched Rockford in Vain for John K. Stromquist.

Mrs. Etta Banker of this city, who has been twice married and once divorced, went to Rockford, Saturday, to hunt for a widower with six children, named John K. Stromquist, who, it appeared had promised to marry her. The wedding was to take place on a Thursday and a license was issued by County Clerk Howard Lee as far back as June 18. For some reason or other, Stromquist had not come back to Janesville to keep his pledge and when Mrs. Banker called at the place where he had resided in Rockford, she was told that he had left the city for parts unknown in search of employment. Police Magistrate Landon story but was unable to give her much comfort. The prospective groom is a stone mason by trade and is reported to be an active enemy of the "dry" in politics.

RUNAWAY HORSE, ON C. & N. W. TRESTLE

Axel Norpin Had Wild Jag and Wild Ride Last Evening—Nag Dropped 12 Feet Into River.

Axel Norpin, a Scandinavian employed by the Janesville Street Railway Co., in laying tracks, and a horse and buggy belonging to Nels Thompson of Spring Brook with whom Norpin has been boarding, came to grief on the C. & N. W. trestle at the foot of South Franklin street about half past nine o'clock last evening. As it turned out the adventure did not prove serious one but it might easily have ended in tragedy had any of the switch-engines been active at the time. For there is a down-grade to the north in that locality and cars are frequently uncoupled and sent on their way from the vicinity of the Chloride plant with only a brakeman to do the piloting.

The horse first balked, according to Norpin, and then ran away. Whether the driver, who was intoxicated, did not know where he was going or had completely lost control, the fact remains that he did not prevent the nag from turning out on the trestle at the end of his wild dash. Thunders have been laid transversely over a portion of the structure and progress continued to be rapid until the horse struck the end of the planking and the "open work" and went down in a heap.

Contractor Hill and others whose attention had been attracted by the racket, came running to the scene with boards, watched the crazed beast, and attempted to get it on its feet. But in attempting to rise the creature lost its foothold and went over the side of the bridge, dropping twelve feet into the river.

All this time Norpin remained in the buggy, blissfully contented with himself and the world about him. He was still aboard when the buggy, with its broken shaft, was pulled off the trestle and towed to police headquarters by the patrol wagon, in charge of Officer Peter Champion.

"Ay han the biggest fool Intown, ay tank," said Mr. Norpin this morning when he recovered from his wild jag. The court though so soon let him off with a fine and costs amounting to $6, with a jail sentence alternative. Norpin, however, that friends would come to the front with the cash. He came here not long ago from Arizona and his family is in Canada.

PLAN FOR BOOSTING CAMPAIGN OUTLINED

Louis G. De Armand, Commercial Secretary, Tells How Janesville "Can Be Boomed."

When asked what plans are being made and what has already been done in the new movement for the betterment of Janesville, Louis G. De Armand, secretary of the Commercial and Industrial Club of Janesville, had the following to say and his words reflect the new elvish pride that is already being shown by the citizens of this city:

"I believe I came to Janesville to inaugurate the 'Slogan Contest,' which has just closed. I know it is of great importance for any firm to have a slogan or trade mark, something by which all readers of papers and magazines become familiar, and soon learn to know the goods advertised every time they see the particular identifying mark or phrase."

"Janesville, I consider, has chosen an exceptionally strong slogan: 'You'll Succeed in Janesville.' These four words mean much. They stamp, indelibly, the foremost fact of Janesville's present greatness upon the minds of anyone who reads that slogan. Let citizens when they go away from Janesville, tell of these successes."

"There are in the city factories which sell the best goods in their lines, that are made anywhere in the world. When people will talk of these gigantic successes and tell others about them, much good will come of it."

"As to my work and what I will do, I am not at liberty to say right now, for the proposition which several of us are working on is too big and too important to be made public at this time. I must have, though, at all times, the cooperation and help of every business man in this city. I am here to accomplish something and I will do it if we all will get together. Janesville is without question the greatest small city in the whole central west. Stick to Janesville and you'll succeed."

Loyalty to Friends.

Never permit yourself to comment unfavorably upon a friend. If you have a complaint, carry it in person to the individual concerned. Loyalty is the life breath of real friendship, and if there were more loyalty there would be fewer broken friendships.

PROVES VALUE OF AIRSHIP IN OFFENSIVE WARFARE
Mr. Glenn M. Curtis Seated in His Airship and Diagram Showing the 15 Out of 22 "Hits" Made From His Airship at a Target of the Average Battleship. These Shots Were Made From Various Elevations as follows: No. 1, 218 feet; No. 2, 332 feet; No. 3, 240 feet; No. 4, 200 feet; No. 5, 135 feet; No. 6, 130 feet; No. 7, 167 feet; No. 8, 191 feet; No. 9, 250 feet; No. 10, 208 feet; No. 11, 312 feet; No. 12, 302 feet; No. 13, 268 feet; No. 14, 200 feet.

at different altitudes on a target, the size of a battleship marked out on the ground. Out of the 22 shots, 15 hit the target and any of these would have been fatal to the battleship. The shots were made from altitudes as high as 312 feet. Naval experts who were on hand to watch the exhibition conceded the demonstration to prove the value of the airship in offensive as well as defensive warfare. There still remains two factors which handicap the airships in this work. The first is brought out by Rear Admiral Kimball that it has a lack of ability to operate in average weather at sea and the noise made by the motor at low altitude prevents the airship having a fighting chance of reaching a defensive range by signaling its approach.

Let Us Teach You How to Use Gas Economically

Let us have our expert demonstrator call at your home and give you any information you desire about your gas range. She will teach you how to use the range economically, also how to use the many appliances that are found in the modern kitchen and the comfort and convenience they are.

This is simply a part of our Free Service maintained in the interest of consumers.

This service includes the free inspection of any appliances using gas in the city, making adjustments where necessary, insuring absolute satisfaction in results.

Don't think because this service is free that it means the giving of "something for nothing." It is simply good business. Let us illustrate.

You may have a light that is unsatisfactory—you use it but little—you feel slightly annoyed—perhaps you become prejudiced against the use of gas in general.

But the trouble may be due to some very slight irregularity which our expert could easily correct. The correction made—without cost to you—that light is again in use, you feel kindly towards us and use gas more liberally, you feel that you are being well taken care of, as you have a right to be. We have your good will.

Try our free service today. Come into our office, write or phone, and tell us if anything is wrong with your gas appliances.

COUNCIL GRANTS LIQUOR PERMITS; VETO IS FUTILE

FIVE MORE LICENSES ALLOWED
DESPITE MAYOR'S OB-JECTION.

ALDERMAN MAKES CHARGES

Dublin Claims Police Are Denied Support—Gas Rate Suit, Electric Light Contract and Fourth Ave Bridge Quees-
tion Up.

"Saloon and how to control them,"
was the subject of a short but animated debate between Mayor Carle
and the city clerk at the regular meeting of the common council last night,
a debate made interesting by some emphatic remarks concerning the alleged lack of cooperation between the city government and the police in bringing about the wished for control.
Victory, although the mayor was
not driven from his stand by the force
of logic, perches on the banners of the city clerk, for notwithstanding the mayor's veto, saloon licenses were granted to George Laxton, Al. Tou-bert, Wm. Knapp, Fred Rau and Frank McShane.

Other important matters including
the question of whether or not the city should drop the cases now pending before the railroad rate commission against the New Gas Light company, in view of the decrease in rates
already granted, that of the renewal
of the contract with the Electric company for lighting the streets, and the Fourth avenue bridge difficulty also came up, but no decisive action was taken, all being held over until the next meeting.

To all intents and purposes, both
in interest and vivacity, the saloon
question held the center of the stage,
for although discussed very briefly,
the arguments had force and point,
and the stand taken by each side was clearly defined.

The trouble-making question was brought up shortly after the meeting opened when Mayor Carle stated that,
after mature consideration, he had decided not to sign five applications
for liquor licenses on the grounds that George Laxton wished to conduct a saloon in an unsuitable place; that McShane and Rau should be refused
for the same reasons that prompted the refusal last year; that Wm. Knapp
had promised to run an orderly place
last year and had admitted not living up to his promise, and a saloon like that on the corner of Wall and North Academy streets should not be permitted in any city.

That the council did not hold the same beliefs was shown when Alderman Sheridan moved that the five licenses be granted, notwithstanding the mayor's veto.

"It's not right to grant some and refuse others," said the alderman
from the first ward before making his motion. "If they are not run right,
it's the business of the police department to see that they are. It's not up to the council."

"What's the good of making arrests?" queried the mayor, pertinently.
"Every case brought into court is either dismissed or lost. There has not been a conviction in the past two years. Allowing the police to shoulder
the whole blame is merely begging
the question."

"Then if the laws are broken and convictions cannot be secured, there is something wrong, somewhere," replied Alderman Sheridan. "It seems to me that if an officer catches a saloonkeeper violating the law conviction
can be secured."

The debate then became a three-
cornered affair when Alderman Dublin
took the floor and expressed himself.

"It's not a matter of how many licenses are granted or how the places
are conducted," he declared, emphatically. "The police can regulate fifty
just as well as twenty if they are given the right kind of support."

"If this regulation can be done, perhaps you can tell us how," said the mayor. "We would like to know."

"By working with the police instead of bucking them all the time," was Mr. Dublin's answer. "The departments that ought to help seemed to have joined a 'Klankester' club."

"I can't see where I have ever
'kicked' the police in their work,"
said the mayor.

"And I can't see where you have ever helped them," was the alder-man's closing remark.

The motion to grant the five licenses, despite the mayor's veto, was then put to a vote and carried unanimously, every one of the eight aldermen present—Brown, Buchholz, Domhoe, Dublin, Hall, Rehfeld, Scott and Sheridan—voting in favor.

Next in importance, if not in interest, to the saloon question, was that of renewing the contract with the Janesville Electric Company for street lights. This together with the Fourth Ave. bridge difficulty and the problem of whether or not to drop
the suits against the New Gas Light
Co. was brought up by Mayor Carle
before the council took their recess.

Gas Question.
With reference to the suits now
pending before the railroad rate commission against the gas company, the mayor asked that the council carefully consider the matter during the coming two weeks but did not recommend either that the case should be pushed or dropped. It is not known
how the aldermen regard the question
but it is said that there is some sentiment in favor of letting the rate commission pass on the rates in the belief that a greater reduction can be secured than the company recently granted. No action was taken at the meeting last night, however, and the council's decision will be announced
at the next regular meeting.

Light Contract.
Mayor Carle also called the attention of the city clerk to the question
of renewing the contract of the city
with the Electric company for street lighting. The contract with the local company, made while it held a city
franchise, has expired and another contract must be entered into. This time with the company operating under an independent power from the state. During the discussion, P. H.
Korst and Herman Sutherland were heard. According to the officials of the electric company, there is no doubt that the city can enter into a contract with the company under almost the same conditions as formerly,

except that, under the independent
permit, if either party to the contract
thinks that the rates agreed to in the contract are unjust, that party can petition the rate commission to pass on the rates, and if they are not equitable, the rate commission can order
them changed.

Under the state law, both parties
agree to give the rate commission this power when making a contract. Under the former city franchise, the rates were fixed in the contract and could not be altered either in favor of the city or in the company. After the question had been discussed, in motion was made and carried, the city clerk to draw a contract
with the electric company under the direction of the lighting committee
and report at the next meeting.

Fourth Ave. Bridge.
Another matter brought to the attention of the council by the Mayor
was the Fourth Ave. bridge. According to the Mayor, he had not only secured the opinion of the city attorney and another law firm but he had consulted those people who usually buy the bonds. Should the council order the bridge built and bonds issued without calling a special election, it is the opinion of the city attorney that these bonds would be good. Other lawyers cast some doubt on the legality of the proceedings
while prospective purchasers of the bonds refuse to have anything to do with them. According to Mr. Carle,
the council wants to sell the bonds,
not secure a collection of legal opinions and accordingly, he recommended
that a special election be called to decide the question. This would make the bonds a perfectly safe investment
and eliminate any trouble in disposing of them. This motion will also be considered by the aldermen during the next two weeks.

Crusade Ended.
The greater portion of the other
business transacted at the meeting
was of a routine nature and lacking
in sensational features. One motion
however, made by Alderman Rehfeld,
brought the sidewalk crusade to a successful conclusion. This motion
which was carried without discussion,
calls upon the certain property owners in the fourth ward to install standard sidewalks named in the report of the special inspector appointed in accordance with an order passed during the spring by the council. The Fourth was the last ward to order all
defective walks repaired or replaced.

Improvements.
A motion was also made by Alderman Hall and carried that sewers be constructed on Arlington St., between Main and Garfield, on Garfield between Carleton and Vista Aves., North, and on Vista Ave., North, between Garfield and Locust streets. It was likewise decided to repair St.
Lawrence Ave., from Jackson to Harrison St., and permit property owners on the said street to treat the roadbed with Asphaltum Oil.

Reports Received.
Among the reports accepted and
placed on file was that of the Board of Education for the month of June showing an expenditure of $4,334.98,
which was ordered published; the report of the municipal court for June
showing fines to the amount of $62.45;
collected; the report of the street
assessment committee on the proposed improvement of Sinclair, S. Second and 2d Third street; the city treasurer's report for the month of June;
and the report of Chief of Police Appleby for the month of June which
was as follows:

"There were 74 arrests made for the following causes: Drunkenness, 22;
11 violations of the city ordinance;
2 assault with intent to do bodily harm; 11; Inmate, 1; Drunkenness, 67. Of these, 29 offenders were taken to court and 25 discharged. Officer
Sam Brown made 45 of the arrests;
Chief Appleby, 14; Morrissey, 11;
Dorn, 9; Fanning, 7; Hallen, 6; and Champion, 2.

A report of William S. Boyd, an inspector representing underwriting
companies, who inspected the electric wiring in this city and found same to be in need of improvement, was received but the committee on lighting
to which the communication was referred, was granted further time to consider it. Boyd thinks the ordinance regulating electric wiring is not
up to date and recommends immediate action.

The much presented claim of the Rock County Telephone Company
against the city was held over until the next meeting; the city attorney
was directed to take an appeal from

HARD TO PLEASE
Regarding the Morning Cup.

"Oh how hard it was to part with coffee, but the continued trouble with constipation and belching was such
that I finally brought myself to leave it off."

"Then the question was, what should
we use for the morning drink? Tea
was worse for us than coffee; chocolate and cocoa were soon tired of;
milk was not liked very well, and hot water we could not endure."

"About two years ago we struck up Postum and have never been without it since."

"We have seven children. Our baby
now eighteen months old would not take milk, so we tried Postum and found she liked it and it agreed with her perfectly. She is today, and has been, one of the healthiest babies in the State."

"I was about two-thirds Postum and
one-third milk and a teaspoon of sugar,
and put it into her bottle. If you verily have seen her eyes sparkle and hear her say 'good' today when I gave it to her, you would believe me that she likes it."

"If I was mother of an infant's home, every child would be reared on Postum. Many of my friends say,
'You are looking so well!' I reply, 'I am well; I drink Postum. I have no more trouble with constipation, and know that I owe my good health to God and Postum.'"

"I am writing this letter because I want to tell you how much good Postum has done us, but if you know how I shrink from publicity, you would not publish this letter, at least not over my name."

"I read the little book, 'The Road to Wellville,' in page. 'There's a Response.'"

"Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest."

the decision of the circuit court to the supreme court in the case brought up by Harahan and Lindquist against the city; the bonds of four junk dealers were accepted; The mayor and highway committee were directed to renew the lease of the stone quarry
with Andrew Barron, the bond of J.
T. Hake for paying Sinclair, S. Second and S. Third streets was accepted and later ordered amended and replaced by a similar bond from the Grand, Graham Co., Freeport, Ill.; the petition of certain property owners
between the tracks by the interurban
company was withdrawn upon receipt of a communication asking for its withdrawal by the petitioner; Harry Kagart was directed to audit the books of the city treasurer at a cost
not to exceed $75; orders were ordered drawn in favor of David Con-

LEWIS' PARTY IN MONROE YESTERDAY

Candidate For Governor Greets Con-
rades of Spanish American War
in County Seat of Green Co.
(Special to this paper.)

Monroe, Wis., July 12.—Captain
William Mitchell Lewis, of Racine,
was here calling on friends yesterday.
Col. D. A. Stearns was his escort while in the city and Mr. Lewis was also greeted by many of the Monroe soldiers with whom he served with the Wisconsin troops in the Spanish American war. The Captain was accompanied by A. J. Lunt, of Racine, commonly known as "Jim" Lunt, at one time a famous University of Wisconsin pitcher. The trip was made here in a 50 h. p. Mitchell car, the party coming direct here from Beloit.
From here they went to Plattville
and the tour will also include Lancaster, Pennimore, Prairie du Chien and La Crosse. Walter Knight, a Milwaukee newspaper man, was also a member of the party.

Local News.
Arlene Nance expects to leave the latter part of next week for West Virginia, where he has secured contracting work with Ferris Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa. John Ferris, junior member of the firm, was a former assistant in the high school here some years ago. Mr. Nance has just completed a civil engineering course at the state university and has made adequate preparation for the work which he will now carry on.

GARMENT STRIKERS GAIN POINT.

Sixty Manufacturers Capitulate—5,000
More Workers Walk Out.

New York, July 12.—Sixty cloak manufacturers capitulated to the union in the cloakmakers' strike, and it was confidently predicted by the strike leaders that the strike would be won within a very short time.

The settlement committee of the strike reports that over 150 applications have been received from manufacturers anxious to make immediate settlement.

Five thousand raincoat and mackintosh-makers were called out on strike in sympathy with the cloakmakers. This brings the number of men and women now on strike up to about 80,000.

Farmers Near Evansville Again Suffered Loss By Saturday's Rain
and Hall Storm.

[SPECIAL TO THIS GAZETTE]
Evansville, July 11.—Farmers living in the vicinity of Oriskany, Ind.,
about four miles out on the Cooks-
ville road, were for the second time
within a month, visited by another
hall and wind storm Saturday afternoon. This time the storm was less severe and did not extend over so large an area. The outbuildings and crops on the farms of Oriskany and Jacksboro seemed to have been damaged the last time. At Oriskany, the barn was partially unroofed and the chick house in which the latter place
the barn doors were blown in and the building badly rocked. The wind came without any warning and lasted only ten or fifteen seconds. Corn and other crops in that vicinity were badly damaged by the hail. Tobacco was hurt but little, as the out-
look for a crop is extremely poor,
notwithstanding the fact that many fields have been reset three or four times.

New Library Books.

The Courage of Captain Plum

American adventurer in Nicaragua who has been sentenced to 10 years in prison to be well looked after, must be treated like a prisoner in his own land.

Washington, D. C.—All that the United States will ask for William Pittman, the soldier of fortune who has been convicted by the Nicaraguan government and sentenced to 10 years imprisonment in Nicaragua, is that he be treated in the ordinary and humane manner due to prisoners.

No official advice of Pittman's conviction has reached the department. Unofficial dispatches tell of the award of 10 years to Pittman, who was one of the foreign legation of General Estrada. Should any cruel treatment or irregular conduct toward Pittman be discovered the American government will take a hand.

There will be no repatriation of the Cannon and Groce incident as long as Uncle Sam's marines and "hips" are within striking distance.

News from Nicaragua is that Madrid is doing everything to stir up anti-American sentiment. The latest scheme of Madrid is reported in the dispatch received from Council Officers today. It says:

"The press of Nicaragua, which is under the vigorous censorship of Dr. Madrid and Minister General Irujo, a few days ago published incendiary articles urging the people to gather on the following day in order to make a demonstration against Americans. Dr. Madrid and General Irujo were clearly responsible for this project, which was not, however, supported by the people."

"A detachment of 10 policemen

armed with rifles was yesterday stationed at the entrance of the consular building, evidently for the purpose of giving color to the pretension of Dr. Madrid that a general anti-American sentiment exists on the part of the Nicaraguan people.

"It is reported that revolutionary forces have complete investment of Amoyaca."

"The state department has also been officially informed that an elaborate statement has been issued by Irujo, who has captured three or four consular towns, directing that import and export duties for goods being taken from or to these towns must be paid to him at Peral Lagoon."

Largest Rose Tree.
Germans claim to possess the largest rose tree in Europe. It is found in Herr Wehrle's garden at Freiburg. It extends 115 feet at the top and forms a splendid bower. Originally it was a wild rose, on which a Chromolaena tea rose was grafted in 1881.

"I've Got Word—but No Note!" He Whispered Hoarsely.

flashed sudden fire. "How do you know that my fate is to be yours? I begin to see the truth. Winsome has not answered your note because she knows that you are to live and that she will see you soon. Between Winsome and Marion you will be saved!"

Nell had taken a piece of meat and was eating it as though he had not heard his companion's words.

"Help yourself, Nat. It's our last opportunity."

"You don't believe—"

"No, Lord, man, do you suppose that I am going to let me live to kill him?"

Somebody was fumbling with the chain at the dungeon door.

The two men stared at it opened slowly and Jeekum appeared. The jailer was highly excited.

"I've got word—but no note!" he whispered hoarsely. "Quick! Is it worth—"

"Yes! Yes!"

Nathaniel dug the gold pieces out of his pockets and dropped them into the jailer's outstretched hand.

"I've had my boy watching Winsome's house," continued the sheriff, white with the knowledge of the risk he was taking. "An hour ago Winsome came out of the house and went into the woods. My boy followed. She ran to the lake, got into a skiff, and rowed straight out to sea. She is following your instructions!"

In his excitement he betrayed himself. He had read the note.

There came a sound up the corridor, the opening of a door, the echo of voices, and Jeekum leaped back. Nathaniel's foot held the cell door from closing.

"Where is Marion?" he cried softly.

"I don't know," answered the jailer, who was looking at his watch.

"I'll find out," said Nathaniel, and he slipped out of the cell and ran down the corridor.

He reached the end of the corridor and found the door open. He slipped out and ran down the street.

his heart standing still with dread. "Great God—what about Marion?" For an instant the sheriff's kindly face was pressed against the opening. "Marion has not been seen since morning. The king's officers are searching for her."

The door slammed, the chains clanked loudly, and above the sound of Jeekum's departure Nell's voice rose in a muffled cry of joy.

"They are gone! They are leaving the island!"

Nathaniel stood like one turned into stone. His heart grew cold within him. When he spoke his words were passionless echoes of what had been.

"You are sure that Marion would kill herself as soon as she became the wife of Strang?" he asked.

"Yes—before his vile hands touched more than the dress she wore!" shouted Nell.

"Then Marion is dead," replied Nathaniel, as coldly as though he were talking to the walls about him. "For last night Marion was forced into the hands of the king."

As he revealed the secret whose torture he meant to keep imprisoned in his own breast he dropped upon the pallet of straw and buried his face between his arms, cursing himself that he had weakened in those last hours of their comradeship.

He dared not look to see the effect of his words on Nell. His companion uttered no sound. Instead there was a silence that was terrifying.

At the end of it Nell spoke in a voice so strangely calm that Nathaniel sat up and stared at him through the gloom.

"I believe they are coming after us, Nat. Listen!"

The tread of many feet came to them faintly from beyond the corridor wall.

Nathaniel had risen. They drew close together, and their hands clasped.

"Whatever it may be," whispered Nell, "may God have mercy on our souls!"

"Amen!" breathed Captain Plum.

CHAPTER XI.

"The Straight Death."

Hands were fumbling with the chain at the dungeon door.

It opened and Jeekum's ashen face shone in the candle-light. For a moment his frightened eyes rested on the two men still standing in their last embrace of friendship. A word of betrayal from them and he knew that his own doom was sealed.

He came in, followed by four men. One of them was MacDougall, the king's whipper. In the corridor were other faces, like ghostly shadows in the darkness. Only MacDougall's face was uncovered. The others were hidden behind white masks. The men uttered no sound, but ranged themselves like specters in front of the door, their cocked rifles swung into the crooks of their arms. There was a triumphant leer on MacDougall's lips as he and the jailer approached. As the whipper bound Nell's hands behind his back he hissed in his ear:

"This will be a better job than the whipping, damn you!"

Nell laughed.

"Hear that, Nat?" he asked, loud enough for all in the cell to hear. "MacDougall says this will be a better job than the whipping. He remembers how I thrashed him once when he said something to Marion one day."

Nell was as cool as though acting his part in a play. His face was flushed, his eyes gleamed fearlessly defiant. And Nathaniel, looking upon the courage of this man, from under whose feet had been swept all hope of life, felt a twinge of shame at his own nervousness. MacDougall growled with passion at the taunting reminder of his humiliation and tightened the thongs about Nell's wrists until they cut into the flesh.

"That's enough, you coward!" exclaimed Nathaniel, as he saw the blood start. "Here—take this!"

Like lightning he struck out and his flat foot with crushing force against the side of the man's head. MacDougall toppled back with a hollow groan, blood spurting from his mouth and nose. Nathaniel turned coolly to the four rifles leveled at his breast.

"A pretty puppet to do the king's commands!" he cried. "If there's a man among you let him finish the work!"

Jeekum had fallen upon his knees beside the whipper. "Great God!" he shrieked. "You've killed him! You've stove in the side of his head!"

There was a sudden commotion in the corridor. A terrible voice boomed forth in a roar.

"Let me in!"

Strang stood in the door. He gave a single glance at the man gasping and bleeding in the mud. Then he looked at Nathaniel. The eyes of the two men met unflinching. There was no hatred now in the prophet's face.

"Captain Plum, I would give a tenth of my kingdom for a brother like you!" he said calmly. "Here—I will finish the work." He went boldly to the task, and as he tied Nathaniel's arms behind him he added: "The vicissitudes of war, Captain Plum, you are a man—and can appreciate what they sometimes mean!"

A few minutes later, gagged and bound, the prisoners left behind two of the armed guards and at a command from the king, given in a low tone to Jeekum, marched through the corridor and up the short flight of steps that led out of the jail. To Nathaniel's astonishment there was no light to guide them. Candles and lights had been extinguished. What words he heard were spoken in whispers. In the deep shadow of the prison wall a third guard joined the two ahead and like automata they strode through the gloom with slow, measured step, their rifles held with soldierly precision. Nathaniel glanced over his shoulder and saw three other white masked faces a dozen feet away. The king remained behind.

He shuddered and looked at Nell. His companion's appearance was at most startling. He seemed half a head taller than himself, yet he knew that he was shorter by an inch or two; his shoulders were thrown back, his chin held high, he kept step with the guards ahead. He was marching to his death as coolly as though on parade.

Nathaniel's heart beat excitedly as they came to where the scrub of the forest met the plain. They were taking the path that led to Marion's! Again he looked at Nell. There was no change in the fearless attitude of Marion's brother, no lowering of his head, no faltering in his step. They passed the graves and entered the opening in the forest where lay Marion's home, and as once more the sweet odor of lilac came to him, awakening within his soul all those things that he had tried to stifle that he might meet death like a man, he felt himself weakening, until only the cloth about his mouth restrained the moaning cry that forced itself to his lips. If he had possessed a life to give he would have sacrificed it gladly then for a word with the Mormon king, a last prayer that death might be meted to him here, where eternity would come to him with his glazing eyes fixed to the end upon the home of his beloved, and where the sweetness of the flower that had become a part of Marion herself might soothe the pain of his final moment on earth.

His heart leaped with a hope as a sharp voice from the rear commanded a halt. It was Jeekum. He came up out of the darkness from behind the rear guard, his face still unmasked, and for a few moments was in whispered consultation with the guards ahead. Had Strang, in the violence of that hatred which he concealed so well, conceived of this spot to give added torment to death? It was the poetry of vengeance! For the first time Nell turned toward his companion. Each read what the other had guessed. Nell, who was nearest to the whispering four, turned suddenly toward them and listened. When he looked at Nathaniel again it was with a slow negative shake of his head.

Jeekum returned quickly and placed himself between them, seizing each by an arm, and the forward guards, pivoting to the left, set off at their steady pace across the clearing. As they entered the denser gloom of the forest on the farther side Nathaniel felt the jailer's fingers tighten about his arm, then relax—and tighten again. A gentle pressure held him back and the guards in front gained half a dozen feet. In a low voice Jeekum called for those behind to fall a few paces to the rear.

Then came again the mysterious working of the man's fingers on Nathaniel's arm.

Was Jeekum signaling to him? He could see Nell's white face still turned stolidly to the front. Evidently nothing had occurred to arouse his suspicions. If the maneuvering of Jeekum's fingers meant anything it was intended for him alone. Action had been the motto of his life. The possibility of new adventure, even in the face of death, thrilled him. He waited, breathless, and the strange pressure came again, so hard that it hurt his flesh.

There was no longer a doubt in his mind. The king's sheriff wanted to speak to him.

And he was afraid of the eyes and ears behind.

The fingers were cautioning him to be ready—when the opportunity came. The path widened and through the thin tracings above their heads the starlight filtered down upon them. The leading guards were 20 feet away. How far behind were the others?

A moment more and they plunged into deep night again. The figures ahead were mere shadows. Again the fingers dug into Nathaniel's arm, and pressing close to the sheriff he bent down his head.

A low, quick whisper fell in his ear. "Don't give up hope! Marion—Winsome—"

LITTLE DAUGHTER HAD SCALP HUMOR

Itched So that She Scratched Until Blood Came. Hair Fell Out. Scalp had Unpleasant Odor. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment Four Weeks. Scalp Perfectly Clear.

Hair Began to Grow Again and Now Has Beautiful, Long Hair.

"When my little daughter was about five years old, she was taken with the measles. A few weeks after the measles were gone, she began to have a severe scalp humor. It itched so that she would scratch the whole day, until the blood came. We had a doctor and tried a good many other remedies, but nothing helped. Her hair all fell out and the scalp itself had an unpleasant odor."

"After we had tried all the other remedies, my wife told me to try the Cuticura Remedies. We bought one box of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment. We used the Cuticura Remedies according to directions and in about three or four weeks her scalp was perfectly clear of the terrible humor. Her hair began to grow again and now she has beautiful, long hair. Since that time I have recommended the Cuticura Remedies to other people and they also had success. Chas. Balzereimer, Amiana, Iowa, Nov. 8, 1909."

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, July 12, 1870.—Johannes—A horse belonging to Mr. Miller, of Monterey, back to a cart to dump a load of dirt on the dam was drawn back into the deep water. The horse and vehicle were pulled out of the water and the horse was killed. This is the same horse which survived a fall over Monterey quarry about a year ago.

BLOCK AND TACKLE USED TO HOIST BULL OUT OF SILO

Animal Belonging to L. L. Stevens of Utters' Corners Got Into Deep-ground Silo 28 Feet Under.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Utters' Corners, July 11.—John Fulton of Whitewater was called out to the L. L. Stevens farm Saturday with his halibut tackle to hoist a large bull out of a silo. The silo was built out of Mr. Stevens' underground silo, which is twenty-eight feet deep. There is about three feet of silage at the bottom which saved the animal from being hurt by the fall. The next time he was hoisted the tackle broke just as he got to the top and he dropped to the bottom again, but the second time he was hoisted and

DAILY DIET HINTS

LIFE, HEALTH, DISEASE DETERMINED BY FOOD AND THOUGHT.

What is vitality? One of the several exhibitions of universal energy akin to electricity, gravitation, magnetism. Each of these forces manifests only through the agency of matter, and vitality through the most highly organized matter in the animal body. Fourteen chemical elements are necessary to its perfect organization and working power, in definite proportions. It is the decomposition and recombination of these that maintain life. They are stored in the tissues, all taken from the blood, which obtains its constituents from the food, water and air. Nervous stimuli, the highest form of which is thought, determine the exercise of the various functions which utilize food. Life, health, disease, is therefore determined by food and thought. The importance of the right selection of thought, of optimism, particularly, is generally admitted, and we are coming to see, more and more, the importance of selecting wisely what we eat and drink, although this is controlled by the most fixed of all habits.

Uncle Sam's Match Consumption.

It has been estimated that we of the United States consume 700,000,000,000 matches annually and that ours is a larger match bill than any other nation's.

Wisconsin Cheap Land and Mild Climate Win Settlers

Opening of Round Lake Country Brings Rush of Landseekers.

The rich to the Round Lake Country of Wisconsin, where 100,000 acres of the farm land in Sawyer County have been released to settlement by the big lumber interests, promises to become a veritable stampede of eager homeseekers. Farmers in the Middle and Southern states have come to their senses on the question of Wisconsin climate. The government reports have disclosed the "real winter" here by establishing the fact that the Wisconsin winters are mild. There is only 10 degrees difference in the average annual temperature between St. Paul and Leavenworth, Kan. The average annual temperature in the United States is shown by these official figures: St. Paul, 42 deg.; Leavenworth, Kan., 51 deg.; St. Louis, 55 deg.; Indianapolis, 51 deg.; New Orleans, 49 deg.; Austin, Tex., 47 deg. The American Immigration Co., of Chicago Falls, Wis., is selling this vast body of rich land at $1.50 to $20 per acre.

A man with a few hundred dollars can acquire title to the farm and pay the balance in five or ten annual installments, out of the crops. For complete maps and full particulars address

Japan's Toy-Shops.

There is no country in the world where there are so many toy shops as Japan. In all towns, and in most of the villages, there is a children's bazaar, and the neighborhood of the principal temples is crowded with stalls containing things to amuse children. At the great religious festivals even the poorest are to be met with their arms full of toys to take home, and the number of men and women who earn a livelihood by itinerant street shows, got up solely to amuse the children, can be counted by hundreds. These entertainments include theatricals, where brave deeds are performed by heroic warriors, story-tellers, song-singers and conjurers.—Wide World Magazine.

Confuses the Compass.

On account of the magnetic qualities of the hull and the ore which comprises the cargo, many of the vessels of the lake fleets experience great trouble in navigating owing to the influence of the metal hull and the cargo on the compass.
